

In Dedication to Ella Fitzgerald & Joe Pass

Go back in time with Louise Phelan and David MacGregor with a fun yet sophisticated concert in which two of Europe's top musicians will pay tribute to two legends of Classic Jazz.

David from Scotland and Louise from Ireland get together in an exclusive series of concerts to perform various songs from the Fitzgerald and Pass discography as well as David performing some solo Jazz guitar pieces of which Joe Pass was an innovator. Throughout the 70's and 80's, Ella Fitzgerald and Joe Pass recorded six albums still recognised today as some of the finest examples of Voice accompanied by guitar duets. In this concert, the outstanding duo will perform fresh, interesting and original versions of these timeless classics.

Live once again or discover for the first time these Jazz masterpieces in a unique experience that music lovers of all ages will enjoy.

David is a virtuoso solo finger style World-Jazz guitarist and composer from Scotland. For many years he was based in the UK playing in several bands. In 2009, after having a lesson with the award-winning guitarist Martin Taylor, he decided to concentrate on an international Solo Jazz Guitar career.

In April 2012, he released his first solo Jazz guitar album "Resonance". So far, he has performed solo concerts in Scotland, England, Ireland, the Netherlands, France, Germany, the Czech Republic, the U.S.A. and Mexico. His solo performances have met raving reviews from promoters and gig goers. The mixture of extraordinary ability on the instrument, passion and a relaxed stage presence make each performance enjoyable for any kind of audience.

David is nowadays collaborating with other renowned musicians all over the world, but at least once a year he goes back home to share his travelling experiences and new compositions with his homeland.

*"They say a picture paints a thousand words, but MacGregor's strings do an equally stunning job" – Jen Bowden,
Dunfermline Press*

Louise, originally from Limerick, Ireland, has performed in solo concerts, musicals, tv and radio shows across the US, Canada and all around Europe and South America since beginning her professional career. She spent two years working for Sony Music & Universal BMG Scandinavia (1999-2001).

Since May 2010, Louise has been based out of Mexico City, where she regularly performs at the most prominent Jazz clubs, venues, theatres and festivals around Mexico City and across the country. She feels privileged to be working with the very best of Jazz musicians from Mexico, Chile, USA, Israel, Brazil, New Zealand, Scotland and Ireland.

Louise is often invited to participate in recorded and live interviews in specialised programs about Jazz or to publicise events on radio and television such as TV Azteca Puebla, Televisa, Canal 22. She actively participates in Irish music and Jazz events, working for the Irish Embassy in Mexico City and Havana, Cuba.

"This singer, who on stage is her own kind of cross between Billie Holiday and Ella Fitzgerald, as her voice floats between clouds of strings and winds with an indubitable vintage sound." – Excelsior
